Some of THE MOST COMMON TELLS

- Leaning forward or backward. Suddenly bolting upright can usually indicate a strong hand.
- Impatiently wanting to bet can indicate a strong hand and those who are bluffing usually tend to take extra time.
- Dilated pupils or eyes suddenly widening can usually indicate the player made a strong connection.
- Shaking hands can indicate excitement and often means the player has a strong hand.
- Playing with jewelry can indicate nervousness. When this anxiety is genuine, it often means the player has a monster hand.
- Aggression or forceful betting is a classic case of weak-means-strong, strong-means-weak.
- Holding breath or staying very still can often indicate a weak hand as the player is trying to avoid being noticed.
- Checking hole cards after flop usually indicates a weak hand as the player attempts to make a meaningful connection.
- Looking away or not making eye contact applies mostly to novice players are bluffing as to avoid giving away any signs.
- Forcing a smile can indicate an effort to disguise discomfort and usually indicates a weak hand.

*These may or may not be tells depending on the individual player. Be keen and stay sharp.

...Bluffing is really tough now, because there is always someone who calls me on the off-chance they read a world champion’s bluff.

Actor from The Sting.
Poker VARIANTS

STUD GAMES
Depending on the specific game, players will be dealt a specific number of cards, usually 5 or 7, and then must use these cards to make their best hand.

7 CARD STUD
Players are dealt two hole cards, along with a card face up. After these initial cards are dealt, a round of betting takes place based on the lowest showing card, (in case of 2 players holding lowest card e.g. both players showing a deuce, the lowest card will be determined by suit alphabetical with Spades being highest).

Players are then dealt three cards face up with a betting round after each. One last card is dealt face down followed by another round of betting. Players then use their best 5 cards for the final showdown.

DRAW GAMES
Depending on the specific game, a player is dealt a complete hand and then may choose to trade in cards.

5 CARD DRAW
Players are dealt 5 cards face down followed by a round of betting before the first draw. Players are then allowed to discard unwanted cards before drawing new ones from the deck. Another round of betting then takes place with the best hand taking the pot.

COMMUNITY CARD
In these types of games, players are dealt what are referred to as hole cards, or cards that are uniquely theirs. They then use a combination of their hole cards and community cards to make their best hand. All other players in the game can also use the community cards as well.

TEXAS HOLD’EM
Every player is dealt two cards face down followed by a round of betting. Three “flop” cards are then dealt as community cards followed by a round of betting. Another round of betting takes place after the fourth community card, or “turn” is dealt.

Lastly, the fifth community card, or “river” is dealt followed by a round of betting. Every player must make their best hand from a combination of hole and community cards to take the pot.

</tr>
<tr>
<td>BLIND</td>
<td>Similar to an ante, except only two players are required to commit to the game before seeing their hand. Typically they are split into a big and small blind and will rotate players. All remaining players must either call or raise to stay in the game.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CALL</td>
<td>When a player chooses to match the previous bet in order to stay in the game.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RAISE</td>
<td>To bet more money than the amount required to call, this forces the other players to bet more to stay in the game. Raising the bet.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CHECK</td>
<td>When no new wager has been made and a player chooses to bet zero. This passes the action on to the next player.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CHECK RAISE</td>
<td>A deceptive strategy where a player checks when it is their turn to bet and after another player bets, then proceeds to raise that player’s bet.</td>
</tr>

There are a total of 2,598,960 possible hands of poker with a 52 card deck.

Poker, as we know it, is said to have originated in New Orleans and was originally played with only 20 cards and 4 players. The players would each be dealt 5 cards and bet on who they thought had the best hand.

Poker chips were fashioned by saloons and gambling houses in the 1800's as a way to standardize trading tokens. The chips were made from ivory, wood, clay and bones and decorated.

In 1937 playing card companies tried, and failed, to add a fifth suit to a standard deck of cards.

The first game of Texas hold’em was played sometime in the 1900’s in Robstown, Texas.

Doyle Brunson, one of the first people to bring the game of Texas hold’em to Las Vegas in 1967.

The first televised poker event was The World Series of Poker on CBS in 1973 for a GRAND PRIZE OF $130,000.

The World Series of Poker has been won twice, back to back, with 10-2. Interestingly enough, both times it was won by Doyle Brunson.

The World Record for longest poker game was set in 2010 by Phil Laak, who played for over 115 hours.

There are very few hands you should consider betting on.

Playing Certain CARDS

A good rule of thumb to remember when playing poker, especially as a beginner, is that not every hand is worth playing. In fact, there are very few hands you should consider betting on.

Texas Hold'em, there are 5 Hands which are considered premium and worth playing almost every time.

A A  K K  Q Q  A K  J J

In addition to these 5, there are 10 more quality hands to play as a beginner. Once you become more comfortable with the game, you can consider adding more to your list.

10  10  A K  A Q  A J  K Q

A  10  K J  A Q  J Q  9 9

It is important to remember when playing poker, especially Texas hold'em, a lot can change with the addition of the community cards. Knowing when to play certain cards is where the true skill in poker comes from.

For example, pocket aces are widely considered the best hole cards to have. While this is true, they are more valuable early on because a lot can happen on the flop.
